Comment:

All priorities remain on track and aligned with the established annual objectives. Progress has been made across Cost, Culture, Delivery, Quality & Capability, and Safety, with positive results achieved in each area.

- COST

Cost management initiatives are progressing according to plan, with regular updates completed for all training cost build-ups and forecasting activities.

A key achievement has been the reduction of expenses associated with rented training equipment of Steam Power rental assets, delivering measurable savings while maintaining training quality and operational effectiveness.

- CULTURE

People engagement continues to be a key focus area. Glint engagement results have remained consistently above 90%, reflecting a highly engaged team and a positive working environment.

Regular Gemba Walks have been conducted within the Hands-On Training Facility and documented through the LSR Effectiveness Checklist.

These activities support leadership visibility, reinforce operational discipline, and promote continuous improvement across the training organization.

Mid-Year and End-of-Year review processes are progressing according to plan, ensuring timely performance discussions, employee development, and alignment with business objectives.

- DELIVERY

Key AP's are progressing as expected.

While some activities have experienced delays, these are driven by dependencies outside my area of responsibility, specifically the availability of engineering procedures required to support execution.

Despite these challenges, proactive follow-up and mitigation actions are in place to minimize impact and maintain momentum toward achieving year-end targets.

- QUALITY & CAPABILITY

Customer satisfaction remains strong, with the NPS trend consistently above 83%, demonstrating the continued effectiveness of our training delivery and customer-focused approach.

Final assessment scores remain aligned with established KPI targets.

The instructor audit program is progressing according to schedule, ensuring compliance with quality standards and reinforcing instructional excellence.

Kahuna competencies have been identified and documented for all team members, providing clear visibility of qualifications and development needs.

Planned cross-training activities have been successfully completed, strengthening team flexibility and capability.

Where formal training attendance was not feasible, individual coaching, mentoring, and one-to-one development sessions were utilized to ensure continuous knowledge transfer and professional growth.

- SAFETY

Safety remains the top priority in all activities. All applicable procedures are current and up to date, and Life Saving Rules are consistently applied throughout training delivery and daily operational activities.

Safety checklists are completed for all training sessions and team activities performed within the training bay, ensuring a strong safety culture, effective risk mitigation, and full compliance with established safety requirements.

Overall Assessment

Performance against all priorities is on track at the mid-year review stage.

Strong progress has been achieved in cost optimization, employee engagement, customer satisfaction, capability development, and safety performance.

Throughout this mid year, I have demonstrated a high level of professionalism, adaptability, and commitment to customer success. Whether addressing equipment availability constraints, supporting operational priorities, or managing facility-related challenges, I have consistently focused on identifying practical solutions while maintaining training quality and delivery commitments.

This flexibility, combined with proactive stakeholder engagement and a continuous improvement mindset, has enabled the team to sustain strong performance despite changing business conditions and operational challenges, as the case of the BLC room capacity issue.

Although certain delivery milestones remain dependent on external engineering inputs, appropriate actions are in place to manage these dependencies and support the successful achievement of year-end objectives.

Overall, results are aligned with expectations, and the organization remains well positioned to meet its annual goals.

Over the first half of the year, I have demonstrated the GE Vernova Way through my daily work and leadership. I have focused on innovation by continuously looking for better ways to deliver training solutions and improve the learning experience. I maintained a strong customer focus, working closely with stakeholders to understand needs and ensure our training programs supported business priorities. I applied Lean principles to simplify processes, improve efficiency, and drive practical improvements where possible. Through a strong One Team mindset, I collaborated effectively across functions, regions, and teams to achieve common goals and support collective success. I also took full accountability for my commitments, delivering on priorities, addressing challenges proactively, and maintaining a focus on results. Overall, I believe my performance reflects a Strength rating, with meaningful contributions to both team objectives and business outcomes.
